CONTENTS

Preface and acknowledgements 5

1 Introduction 9
  a. Mobile banditry in the Netherlands? 9
  b. Police reports 10
  c. Media reports 11
  d. Academic research 13
  e. The current research 14
  f. Research methods 15

2 Itinerant criminal gangs: past and present 21
  a. Mobile banditry – historical background 22 a.1 East and Central Europe 22 a.2 The Netherlands 25
  b. Organised crime after the fall of communism 28 b.1 The transition period 28
     b.2 EU expansion – policy and consequences 46

3 Mobile banditry as a ‘new form’ of organised crime 51
  a. Organised crime or adventurers? 51
  b. Perpetrator groups 54
  c. Targets and crimes 58
  d. Modus operandi 66
  e. Mobility, accommodation and duration of stay 76

4 Criminal markets – where are the stolen goods? 81
  a. The commissioning parties 82
  b. The role of markets in the Netherlands 88
  c. Further Eastward 91
  Conclusion 97

5 Why do they come to the Netherlands? 99
  a. Escape from poverty 99
  b. ‘Naive Dutch people’ 108
  c. Dutch prisons and sentencing 110
  Conclusion 112
6 Approaches to combating mobile banditry
   a. In the European Union 115
   b. In the Netherlands 119
   c. In East and Central Europe 125
Conclusions 126

7 Conclusions 129

References 135

Appendix I: Interviews Research mobile banditry 145
Appendix II: Observations 151